ICD-10-CM Code Listing

As of October 1, 2015, the United States health care system underwent a major transformation. A far more contemporary, larger, and more detailed Tenth Edition of code sets, or ICD-10-CM was implemented. The transition of this system had a major impact on any person or entity recording health care information containing a diagnosis.

Chapter 8 in the ICD-10-CM manual contains a listing of diagnosis codes that audiologists may utilize for identifying a patient's specific type of hearing loss. The following is a partial list of these ICD-10-CM diagnosis codes with their full description.
